Rpg Maker Mv Tileset Maker

In it they admitted theyve been working on this project for more than a year, yet theyve racked up a whopping 47 hours in project.. Posting a topic about resources in a resources section of the relevant game forum is nothing revolutionary here.. Openly stated that they dont have any intention of doing any work on tilesets, because this is just a hobby.. Most of us are rather good at what we do, with each of us having our own little areas of expertise.. But no, this is a crime against your sensibilities, so I shouldnt do it Im going to do it anyway.. However, not a one of us holds a candle to GrandmaDéb when it comes to resources.. Instead I was introduced to some elitist with 4,500 hours in the program going on a tirade about how RPG MAKER MV should and should not be used, when all I did was make an innocuous suggestion thread like Ive seen some others make in the past.. There are about six people that regularly answer questions on this forum, another six that answer occasionally.. Im sorry your bitter today, but Im sure Im not the root cause of your terrible attitude.. Originally posted by Intergalactic Birdbrain: I fail to see how this is a bad thing for anyone.

Theres also the fact that if people post good links in this thread, others browsing for similar assets will find it that much faster.. Hostile Puppet if you think this is me being hostile youre a sheltered child indeed.. Because if she doesnt know about it, you can find it, its probably ripped All trademarks are property of their respective owners in the US and other countries.. I am the king of snark here you filthy ing peasant, as your magnanimous liege lord a bounty of snark is granted with every post.. Now they are reposting, because they didnt like being told to use the resources they already claimed to like better from other engines, do the work to resize the assets themselves.. Obviously I Google search in addition to asking the question here Or should we all just stop making request threads for fear of being told by some keyboard warrior that we use Google instead How do you think half the stuff on Google is indexed and findable in the first place By people making threads and asking questions.. So sorry You didnt even bother looking at the contents of the link before you started whinging about how I didnt do all the work for you did you By the by, I didnt have it bookmarked or anything else.. I expected it to stay dead for a few days, then maybe for some interesting suggestions to pop up later.

As to time in the program, has it not occurred to you that someone who quite literally has one hundred times more investment in the program than you, might actually know what they are talking about In your previous thread, you stated you werent going to put forth any effort to create tilesets.. There are people here who actually make sci-fi related projects and may be able to direct me to specific tilesets that worked for them, or ones that may be easily missable or buried in a search.. Youve dismissed modifying existing tilesets from other engines So I would say that my previous assessment that you arent going to create your game, unless you dramatically alter your own operational criteria, is wholly accurate.
